ARTS DIRECTORY 2010

Sixth Edition

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Cr John Mitchell
Mayor
City of Greater Geelong

The City of Greater Geelong is committed to the arts, and to supporting our very talented arts and cultural community. The 2010 Arts Directory is your link to the organisations and individuals who contribute to and make up the arts community.

Geelong's commitment is echoed by the G21 region municipalities, all of which have dedicated arts and culture workers to encourage and develop the arts throughout the region. All Councils in the G21 region have funded exciting and diverse arts projects and events through their individual grants schemes.

The Geelong Future Cities Project and the planned revitalisation of Geelong's Cultural Precinct will have a significant impact throughout the region. The City of Greater Geelong has committed up to $20 million for a new integrated Geelong Library and Heritage Centre, conditional on funding commitments from the Federal and State Governments. This new Library and Heritage Centre will provide enormous benefits throughout the region which are essential to the cultural, economic and social vibrancy of the five municipalities which compose the G21 region. It will provide a civic and community hub for the Cultural Precinct, which is commencing a State funded $6.5 million upgrade to the Old Courthouse Building, along with exciting plans for the further development of the Geelong Performing Arts Centre.

Our tourism industry is also growing as others discover our rich cultural facilities and special events such as the Lorne Sculpture Exhibition, National Celtic Festival, NWM's Scarf Festival, Golden Plains Arts Trail and the Apollo Bay and Queenscliffe Music Festivals. This increased tourism has significant flow-on effects to the local economy and community pride, which can be felt throughout the region.

This Directory provides a great opportunity for us all to contact our region's talented artists and arts organisations.

I am pleased to endorse the 2010 Arts Directory on behalf of the Mayors in the G21 region, and recommend you tap into the creative minds listed within its pages. You won't be disappointed.

Cr John Mitchell
Mayor
City of Greater Geelong

INTRODUCTION

Kaz Paton
Manager, Arts and Culture
City of Greater Geelong

History shows that great art can be created through collaboration. This is certainly true of arts and culture in the G21 region, which continues to grow and thrive as arts groups and networks come together to celebrate the wealth of talent and opportunities that exist within our region.

While the City of Greater Geelong Arts Directory has always featured a range of artists from the G21 region, it is wonderful that this spirit of partnership has been formalised in producing this sixth edition of the Arts Directory. Surf Coast, Borough of Queenscliffe, Colac Otway and Golden Plains have joined the City of Greater Geelong to build upon this already popular directory of our region's impressive pool of artistic talent.

And what a talent pool it is. From artists, writers, musicians and performers, to galleries, festivals and arts organisations, our region's depth of creativity is rich and diverse and our highlights are significant.

Geelong broke new ground on the national arts scene when we launched the first Australian project in the worldwide interactive story-gathering movement [murmur], which was part of the three-year Connecting Identities project. Golden Plains launched the Teesdale Turtle Bend Project, a new outdoor performance space and community venue surrounded by interactive musical sculptures. Colac Otway's performing arts venue COPACC was named a finalist for Best Presenter in the Australian Performing Arts Centres' Association Drover Awards.

Surf Coast's High Tide Festival received a Festival Australia grant to produce its spectacular Circus – AQUA on the beach. Finally, the Queenscliff Music Festival earned a nomination for Best Contemporary Music Festival in the prestigious Helpmann Awards.

And that's just the tip of the iceberg.

Our region's major cultural facilities, including the Geelong Gallery and National Wool Museum, continued to attract widespread attention with a diverse programme of major exhibitions. GPAC re-opened its stunning new Playhouse theatre after a three month renovation while it, COPACC and the Potato Shed continued to host diverse theatre seasons featuring performances from some of Australia's leading talents. Back to Back and Courthouse Arts continued to produce extraordinary work.

But our greatest asset is, of course, our arts community. My fellow G21 arts officers Julie, Leanne, Karen, Tegan and I feel we are blessed to be part of such a culturally rich community of artists and arts workers. Now they are at your fingertips.

Kaz Paton
Manager, Arts and Culture
